

Making a BookSnap Review

A BookSnap Book Review is a fun and innovative way to create a book review in a snap!. Originally created to be used on SnapChat, BookSnaps can also be created on other platforms.

Your review will use Google Slides to create a unique “snapshot” or glimpse of a book that you choose to review. In the slide you will include appropriate visual clues and text sharing what you liked or did not like about it, your personal opinion as to why or why not and any additional images, graphics or emojis that help support your opinion of the book.

The main elements of a BookSnap uses a Google slide as a blank canvas and must include:

1. A picture of the book (that must include the full title and author of the book).
2. An image of a quote/book excerpt(s) that spoke to you.
3. Your interpretation of the quote.
4. Text explaining what you liked or disliked about the book
5. Visually represent your thoughts of the quote and book you chose using Images, pictures that help readers get a sense of what the book is about
6. A rating on a scale of 1-5

When your BookSnap is complete, you will download it to a JPEG or PNG and submit it to me to be posted on the website.

Have fun with this!

Below is a sample of a BookSnap. You can also find additional information on different types of images and tools you can use for Google Slides at

Jude is being told to not be afraid to try. Mistakes will and do happen. We all can learn from them.

...with the diamond blade circular saw do you have one chance
...strokes his chin. "But even then sometimes you make a catastrophic mistake, you think I am going to kill myself because the sculpture is ruined, but in the end it come out more incredible than had you not made the mistake. This is why I love the rocks. When I sculpt with clay, it feel like cheating. It is too easy to have of its own. The rocks are formidable. It is too easy to have a fair fight. Sometimes you win, you win, you win. Sometimes when they win, you win, you win."

This is an amazing story of guilt, secrets and love felt by twins Jude and Noah after the death of their mother. I love books with witty dialogue and interesting characters. This book has that and so much more!.
